Food has always been a big part of my life. Imagine what life would be like if eating made you sick? Because we need food to survive and we are social creatures who revolve much of our lives around food, not being able to eat impacts physical, mental and social well-being. It is this intricate interconnection between the brain and the gut which drew me to the field of Neurogastroenterology & Motility. Disorders affecting the function of the gastrointestinal tract can lead to a variety of disorders, including gastroparesis, functional dyspepsia and irritable bowel syndrome (IBS). My research includes understanding the role/impact of physiologic testing on clinical care, exploring novel therapies for gastroparesis and expanding the role of neuromodulation in the treatment of GI motility disorders and pain. I am also interested in understanding overlapping conditions such as chronic fatigue syndrome and Ehlers-Danlos syndrome as it relates to pathophysiology and impact on gastrointestinal symptoms and outcomes. As part of this interest, I have served on two ad-hoc committees for the National Academy of Science (Institute of Medicine): “Development of a Consensus Case Definition for Chronic Multisystem Illness in 1990-1991 Gulf War Veterans” and “Health Care Utilization and Adults with Disabilities”. I strive to improve quality of life for patients and health care providers through development of mindfulness, resilience, engagement and advocacy.

Areas of Special Interest: Gastroparesis, Chronic Nausea, Cyclic Vomiting, Irritable Bowel Syndrome, Autonomic dysfunction and Brain-gut disorders

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

- Clinical Professor, Medicine - Gastroenterology & Hepatology

ADMINISTRATIVE APPOINTMENTS

- Clinic Chief, Digestive Health Center, (2018- present)
- Director, GI Motility and Neurogastroenterology, Division of Gastroenterology, (2008-2021)

BOARDS, ADVISORY COMMITTEES, PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

- Member, American Gastroenterology Association (2002 - present)
- Member, American Neurogastroenterology and Motility Society (2003 - present)
- Member, American College of Gastroenterology (2014 - present)

PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

- MD, UCLA School of Medicine (1999)

Research & Scholarship

CURRENT RESEARCH AND SCHOLARLY INTERESTS

My research interests focus on disorder of gastrointestinal motility. Specifically, those related to nausea and vomiting with or without gastroparesis, irritable bowel syndrome and chronic abdominal pain. My research focuses on understanding the cause of symptoms and development of new treatments targeting either symptom control and disease modification.

CLINICAL TRIALS

- Clinical Management With SPM System and Validation of the SPM 5 Hour Cutoff in Patients With Symptoms of Gastroparesis, Not Recruiting
- GI-Challenge Study for Gastroparesis Patients and Healthy Controls, Not Recruiting
- Study to Assess the Efficacy of VLY-686 in Relieving Symptoms of Gastroparesis, Not Recruiting
- Study to Intervene With Nutrition for Gastroparesis, Not Recruiting
- Vagal Nerve Stimulation for Gastroparesis, Not Recruiting
- Zemedy Application for Irritable Bowel Syndrome, Not Recruiting

PROJECTS

- Medical Mindfulness: Virtual Reality Mindfulness Therapy for Anxiety and Pain Management in Patients with Acute and Chronic Pain - Stanford University
