Stanford

Weston Miles Benner

Undergraduate, Vice Provost for Undergraduate Education

Bio

BIO

Weston Benner is a freshman from Houston, Texas passionate about exploring how the brain learns, feels, and processes information. Perpetually full of energy, Weston is usually multitasking with startlingly little efficiency. While he's not learning more about Russian literature or desperately trying to convince his friends that Limitless was the greatest one season TV show ever, chances are he's devouring rom-coms and probably staying up far too late reading.