Research & Scholarship

CURRENT RESEARCH AND SCHOLARLY INTERESTS

Dr. Chao's research focuses on preventing surgical diseases minimizing the traumatic impact of surgery. Dr. Chao serves as the Trauma Medical Director for Stanford Children's Health. Her research and interests include preventing childhood injury, the leading cause of death among children. Dr. Chao has a particular interest in preventing child abuse and its long-term consequences.

Dr. Chao is the Director of the Stanford Chest Wall Program. She is interested in studying new ways to treat and image patients with pectus excavatum and pectus carinatum.

Dr. Chao is also works closely with pediatric anesthesiologists to find ways to minimize anxiety and discomfort associated with surgery. This includes the use of virtual reality to decrease periprocedural anxiety.

Other research interests: pediatric surgery, neonatal surgery, congenital diaphragmatic hernia outcomes, pediatric obesity, minimal access surgery

Dr. Chao also works with the Asian Liver Center towards the global eradication of hepatitis B, the leading cause of liver cancer and liver disease globally. Dr. Chao helped launch the Jade Ribbon Campaign in 2001 to improve public and physician awareness about hepatitis B. Her work has been supported by the US Centers for Disease Control and the American Cancer Society. The Asian Liver Center also works in collaboration with the World Health Organization to improve screening and immunization strategies in Asia. CLINICAL TRIALS

- Lap-assisted vs. US-Guided Visualization of TAP Blocks, Not Recruiting
- Longitudinal Virtual Reality Use in Pediatric Surgical Procedures, Not Recruiting
- Use of Virtual Reality for Pediatric Minor Surgical Procedures, Not Recruiting

PROJECTS

- Elucidating racial bias in the identification of child abuse
- Understanding the toll of pediatric firearms injuries
- Early screening of PTSD following injury during childhood
- Understanding the impact of medical comorbidities on child abuse incidence
- Pediatric Trauma Outcomes
- Chest Wall Deformities: 3D imaging
- Congenital Diaphragmatic Hernia - Predictors of Surgical Outcomes
- Evaluation of laparoscopic assisted TAP blocks
