Stanford

Malinda Pola

Administrative Associate 3, Environmental Social Sciences

Bio

BIO

Malinda Pola joined the Stanford University Doerr School of Sustainability in December 2022 as an Administrative Associate for the Department of Earth System Science (ESS) and is currently an Administrative Associate for Environmental Social Sciences (ESoS). Malinda started her career at Stanford in 2014 as a Faculty Assistant at the Graduate School of Business where she assisted faculty with research needs, supported classes, and processed financial transactions for 8 years.

Malinda holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Environmental Studies with a minor in Business from San José State University.