Stanford

Caitlyn Craft

- Staff, Graduate School of Education
- Technical Consultant, Graduate School of Education

Bio

BIO

Caitlyn Craft served as the Director of Technology and Communications for Stanford University's Office of the Vice Provost for Graduate Education from 2014 to 2020. She has since transitioned to a full-time role outside of the University while remaining an Affiliate of the Stanford Institute for Higher Education Research (SIHER). Caitlyn specializes in the intersection of learning science and emerging technology, where she bridges digital strategy with user-centered product design.