

Maryam Rostami

Soc Science Rsch Prof 1, Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences

Bio

BIO

Maryam Rostami is a professional data analyst in the Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Science at Stanford university, currently working in the area of neuroethics and public health. She got a PhD in cognitive neuroscience and neuroimaging from Tohoku university/Japan that folloed by two years of research in the same area at Stanford university.