Ruth-Ann Hazel Armstrong
Masters Student in Computer Science, admitted Autumn 2018

Bio

Ruth-Ann is a graduate student in computer science who is interested in using technology as a tool for supporting marginalized communities globally. Her current technical interests include blockchain technology, natural language processing and mobile development.