

Stanford

Kirill Olegovich Kalinin

- Staff, Finance
- Casual - Non-Exempt, Hoover Institution

Bio

BIO

I am a political methodologist and comparativist with expertise in statistical analysis, machine learning, artificial intelligence, election forensics, survey methodology, and statistical software development. Since 2017, I have worked at Stanford University's Hoover Institution in various positions, including National Fellow, Researcher, and Data Analyst. Prior to joining Stanford, I studied and worked at the University of Michigan, where I earned my PhD in political science in 2017. For more information, please visit my website at www.kirillkalinin.com.