I am an Assistant Professor of Computer Science at Stanford University, where my research broadly focuses on security, networking, and Internet measurement. I am interested in building systems to collect Internet data at scale and using data to better understand and improve user security and privacy as well as to curb online abuse.
STANFORD ADVISEES

Orals Chair
William DeRocco

Postdoctoral Faculty Sponsor
Deepak Kumar

Master's Program Advisor
Seiji Eicher, Sahar Markovich, Thea Rossman, Daniel Zhang

Doctoral (Program)
Catherine Han, Hans Hanley, Liz Izhikevich, Kimberly Ruth, Gerry Wan

Publications

PUBLICATIONS

- Let's Encrypt: An Automated Certificate Authority to Encrypt the Entire Web
  ASSOC COMPUTING MACHINERY.2019: 2473–87

- All Things Considered: An Analysis of IoT Devices on Home Networks
  Kumar, D., Shen, K., Case, B., Garg, D., Alperovich, G., Kuznetsov, D., Gupta, R., Durumeric, Z., USENIX Assoc
  USENIX ASSOC.2019: 1169–85

- Tracking Certificate Misissuance in the Wild
  IEEE.2018: 785–98