Stanford

Thomas Osborne, MD

Adjunct Clinical Professor, Neurosurgery

Bio

BIO

Thomas Osborne, MD is board certified in Diagnostic Imaging and Neuroradiology.

He has devoted his professional career to accelerating advancements at the intersection of healthcare, technology, and business. He is driven to solve challenges for broad positive impact and shared success.

Dr. Osborne's academic publications cover a diversity of topics such as cancer, infectious disease, neurologic disorders, surgery, pain and anxiety, climate health, falls, elder care, determinants of health, telehealth, diagnostics, predictive analytics, drug repurposing, cost savings, employee morale, strategy, efficiencies, health risk, safety, and the integration of advanced technologies into clinical practice.

Dr. Osborne received his medical degree from Dartmouth Medical School and completed his clinical residency and fellowship at Harvard hospitals. He has been an advisor and mentor to other healthcare leaders for most of his career. He is also the Chief Medical Officer at Microsoft, Federal Civilian.

LinkedIn: https://www.linkedin.com/in/tomosbornemd/

Google Scholar: https://scholar.google.com/citations?hl=en&user=2v4Q8DoAAAAJ