Prior to coming to Stanford, Omer completed his Ph.D. in Economics at MIT in 2020, and got his bachelor’s degree in Economics from Bilkent University in 2014.

His research focuses on the transition of the energy sector towards a decarbonized and sustainable future. In his research, he utilizes large datasets by using game-theoretical modeling to have practical policy suggestions.

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS
• Assistant Professor, Operations, Information & Technology

LINKS
• Personal Page: https://gsb-faculty.stanford.edu/omer-karaduman/

PUBLICATIONS