Bio

Sagit Bar-Gill is an assistant professor of Technology Management and Information Systems at Tel Aviv University's Coller School of Management, and a Fellow at Stanford's Digital Economy Lab and MIT's Initiative on the Digital Economy.

Sagit's research is centered around the economics of online markets, and the impacts of digitization on firms and consumers. Her work combines economic modeling, experiments and data analytics to understand the online economy.