

Stanford

Zachary Scott

Professional Overview

BIO

I graduated from the University of Alabama in Huntsville with my BSN degree in 2011. In 2013, I moved to Columbus, Ohio to work as a registered nurse with the BMT Program at The James Cancer Hospital and Solove Research Institute until 2018. During my tenure at The Ohio State University, I earned his MSN and became a nurse practitioner with a specialty in Adult-Gerontology Acute Care in 2017. After graduating, I worked with Neurosurgery as an APP in Columbus, Ohio. However, my interest remained in hematology and oncology and I moved to Atlanta, Georgia in 2018. Once in Atlanta, I further developed his skills and worked as an APP on the Acute Leukemia and BMT Program at Northside Hospital until 2021. I moved to the Bay Area in late 2021 and joined the Stanford BMT Program in February 2022.

CLINICAL FOCUS

- Nurse Practitioner

PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

- Board Certification: Nurse Practitioner, American Nurses Credentialing Center (2017)
- Professional Education: Ohio State University - Nursing (2017) OH