CURRENT ROLE AT STANFORD

As Program Manager and Center Administrator for the Stanford Center for Cancer Systems Biology (CCSB), I oversee the administrative, financial, compliance, and outreach operations of an NIH-funded U54 cancer research center. I support faculty leadership through strategic planning, budget management, financial reporting, NIH progress reporting, proposal development, and program operations. I also lead scientific outreach activities, including seminar series, annual symposium, website communication, and community engagement initiatives that foster collaboration across Stanford's cancer research community.
