Stanford

Madison Priest

Assistant Director of Research Development for Humanities and Arts, Research Development Office

Bio

BIO

Positioned as part of both VPDoR's Research Development Office and the Stanford Humanities Center, Madison supports research in the Humanities, Arts, and Interpretive Social Sciences across the University. Specifically, she assists faculty in finding and securing extramural funding--with preference given to complex, collaborative, and/or strategic projects. Services are tailored on a case-by-case basis, but can include help conceptualizing projects for funding and assessing opportunities, coordination of collaborative grant writing, and developmental and copy editing.

CURRENT ROLE AT STANFORD

Assistant Director of Research Development (Humanities, Arts and Interpretative Social Sciences focus)

EDUCATION AND CERTIFICATIONS

- PhD, The Graduate Center, CUNY , English (2019)
- BA, Princeton University , Comparative Literature, Creative Writing (2009)