Pauline Larmaraud
Manager, Research Information Technology and Innovation, Vice Provost and Dean of Research

Bio

CURRENT ROLE AT STANFORD
Pauline helps the OIA's team identify, create, and make available services that advance faculty international research outcomes and make doing international research at Stanford as easy as possible - "dans le meilleur des mondes possibles" (French for "in the best of all possible worlds"). After launching the Stanford On & Off-Campus Learning Opportunities website (SOLO), Pauline is now working with the Vice Provost and Dean of Research and Stanford research centers, institutes and other academic units to build a website that aggregates in one place Stanford research funding opportunities for faculty. The website - SeedFunding.stanford.edu - will make it easier for faculty to browse, identify and apply for opportunities. Pauline also manages the International Research Exploration Funds, that provide funding opportunities to faculty to explore new proof-of-concept projects and find innovative solutions to challenges that are specific to doing international and global research.

Pauline is always eager to find ways to collaborate with others on campus to design solutions together as this often proves to be the better, simpler and more pleasant path forward. Pauline has been involved in Stanford's international research efforts since 2005.

Contact Pauline for:
- Your international or global research challenges
- Stanford Seed Funding
- International Exploration Funds
- Your ideas to streamline international research at Stanford

PROJECTS
• Exploration Fund
• Stanford On & Off-campus Learning Opportunities (SOLO)
• Go Global - Stanford University (7/5/2011 - present)

LINKS
• Our office: https://international.stanford.edu