Dr. Michelle Lin is an emergency physician, scientist, and leader whose research addresses the structural factors that drive patients to seek emergency care—and develops solutions to improve outcomes when they do. Her NIH-funded lab uses claims datasets and implementation science to reduce low-value hospitalizations; improve access to care; and develop quality measures based on what matters most to patients. Her research has also examined physician workforce diversity and retention as a lever to improve health care quality.

Dr. Lin leads the development of quality measures used in federally mandated payment programs through her leadership roles in the American College of Emergency Physicians and Clinical Emergency Data Registry. She was previously a fellow and external consultant to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation on projects evaluating access to care within advanced alternative payment models.

Dr. Lin has received several national awards for her work, including the 2026 Society for Academic Emergency Medicine Mid-Career Investigator Award and 2024 American College of Emergency Physicians Policy Pioneer Award. She completed residency at Bellevue Hospital Center in New York City and fellowship in Health Policy Research at Brigham and Women's Hospital and Harvard Medical School, where she also completed a Masters in Clinical Epidemiology at the Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health.

CLINICAL FOCUS

- Emergency Medicine

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

- Associate Prof-Univ Med Line, Emergency Medicine

ADMINISTRATIVE APPOINTMENTS

- Co-Chair, Quality Measure Lifecycle Management Workgroup, Quality and Patient Safety Committee, American College of Emergency Physicians, (2019- present)
- Chair, Clinical Emergency Data Registry Committee (Vice Chair and Chair-Elect 2018-2020), American College of Emergency Physicians, (2018-2022)

HONORS AND AWARDS

- Policy Pioneer Award, American College of Emergency Physicians (2024)
- Distinguished Scholar Award, Office of Gender Equity in Science and Medicine, Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai (2022)
- Early Career Investigator Award, Society for Academic Emergency Medicine (2021)
- Rising Star Researcher, New York American College of Emergency Physicians (2021)
- Junior Faculty Award for Overall Academic Excellence, Faculty Council, Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai (2020)
- 45 Under 45 Top National Influencers in Emergency Medicine, Emergency Medicine Residents' Association (2019)
- Academy for Women in Academic Emergency Medicine Momentum Award, Academy for Women in Academic Emergency Medicine, Society for Academic Emergency Medicine (2019)
- Presidential Scholarship for New Health Services Researchers, AcademyHealth (2016)
- Best Poster, Patient-Centered Outcomes and Comparative Effectiveness Research Day, Brigham and Women's Hospital, Harvard Medical School (2015)
- Visiting Scholar, Inaugural Class, American Board of Medical Specialties (2014)
- Winning Innovation, Teaching Value and Choosing Wisely Competition, American Board of Internal Medicine Foundation. (2013)

BOARDS, ADVISORY COMMITTEES, PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

- Quality and Value Interest Group Advisory Committee, AcademyHealth (2023 - present)
- Board of Governors, Emergency Medicine Data Institute, American College of Emergency Physicians (2022 - present)
- Editorial Board, Academic Emergency Medicine Journal (2021 - present)
- Executive Council (Vice President for Communications 2019-2021, Secretary 2021-2022), Academy for Women in Academic Emergency Medicine (2019 - 2022)

PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

- Research Methods

CURRENT RESEARCH AND SCHOLARLY INTERESTS

Dr. Lin's active NIH-funded research portfolio includes developing a novel patient-reported outcome measure for emergency asthma care; evaluating post-acute transitions and outcomes for high-risk populations; and enhancing health professions workforce retention. She uses mixed methods, including Medicare and Medicaid administrative data, to evaluate and improve the implementation of acute care delivery innovations.
