

Stanford

Marek Miltner

Affiliate, Program-Rajagopal, R.

Bio

BIO

Marek is a researcher and postgraduate student in the fields of Artificial Intelligence for Energy Sustainability, and Technology Policy connected to it. He has also been teaching Computer Science courses at university level since 2018, and at Stanford since 2020.

He has received an MPhil in Technology Policy from the University of Cambridge (UK), and an MEng in Innovation Management and Artificial Intelligence from Czech Technical University (EU). In the past, he has led a research team that built the first autonomous electric vehicle in the Czech Republic.