Stanford

Jill Marcus

Senior Manager, CEC & Clinical Research, Med/Stanford Center for Clinical Research

Bio

BIO

Jill Marcus is a Senior Manager, CEC and Clinical Research with the Stanford Center for Clinical Research (SCCR) at Stanford University. Jill has been working with the SCCR since January, 2023 and has had a strong biomedical research focus her entire career. Jill is passionate about developing strong clinical research teams (faculty and operations) and processes to support the systematic classification of clinical endpoints with the goal of reliably measuring the outcomes of new investigational therapies and treatments to help improve patients lives.

Jill earned her B.A. in Medical Anthropology from the Pennsylvania State University and went on to get her Ph.D. in Neurobiology from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

CURRENT ROLE AT STANFORD

Senior Manager, CEC and Clinical Research