

Stanford

---

Maria Luiza Rocha Bueno

- Ph.D. Student in Education, admitted Autumn 2025
- Research Assistant, Kelman Program

Bio

---

BIO

Maria Luiza Rocha Bueno is a PhD student in Global and Comparative Education at Stanford University. Her research examines education and social movements in Latin America, specifically how grassroots movements engage schooling as a site of political struggle and social transformation. More broadly, she is interested in critical pedagogy, popular education and alternative educational projects. Maria Luiza holds a bachelor's degree in Mathematics and an MA in Education.

EDUCATION AND CERTIFICATIONS

- B.Ed., University of São Paulo , Mathematics (2022)
- M.A., Stanford University , Education (2024)

Research & Scholarship

---

RESEARCH INTERESTS

- Alternative Schooling
- Diversity and Identity
- International and Comparative Education
- Lifelong Learning
- Math Education
- Poverty and Inequality