

Stanford

Maria Rosales

Rsch Admstr 1, SAL Early Childhood Education

Bio

BIO

Maria Rosales is a first-generation college graduate from San José State University with a B.A. in Child and Adolescent Development. Over the years, Maria has worked in a variety of educational settings working with children in early childhood. Currently, Maria serves as a Research Administrator at the Stanford Center on Early Childhood, part of the Stanford Accelerator for Learning in the Graduate School of Education.

CURRENT ROLE AT STANFORD

As a Research Administrator, Maria provides vital administrative and operational support, including managing financial transactions, coordinating conferences and events, arranging and reconciling travel for faculty and visitors, and assisting with the formatting and editing of academic papers.

EDUCATION AND CERTIFICATIONS

- BA, San Jose State University , Child and Adolescent Development - Preparation for Teaching (2020)

PROJECTS

- Child Educator and Advocate Association Club (CEAA) - De Anza College (9/2017 - 6/2018)

PERSONAL INTERESTS

Hiking and traveling!