Stanford

David Thomas John

- Research Assistant - Undergraduate, Graduate School of Business - Organizational Behavior
- Undergraduate, Vice Provost for Undergraduate Education

Bio

BIO

Hi! My name is David John from San Diego, California. I am an Economics major (hopefully), and I am especially interested in Economics in relation to History. During High school, I researched the economic and political impact of California's Alien Land Laws on the different Asian ethnic groups that were primarily targeted by these laws, as I felt that this was a dark and impactful period in the History of California that not many of my peers or the general public are aware of. In my free time, I love to hang out with my friends, try new food, and play lacrosse.