

Malte Becker

Affiliate, Medicine - Primary Care and Population Health

Bio

BIO

Malte Becker is a postdoctoral researcher at the Heidelberg Institute of Global Health and Stanford University.

He obtained his PhD in development economics from the Kiel Institute for the World Economy and the University of Göttingen.

His research focuses on global health, development economics, and health economics.

Personal website: <https://sites.google.com/view/maltebecker/home>

Contact: maltebe@stanford.edu