

Glen Fukushima

Affiliate, Center for East Asian Studies

Bio

BIO

Glen S. Fukushima is Vice Chair of the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC), confirmed by the Senate in April 2022, and Senior Fellow at the Center for American Progress (CAP) in Washington, D.C. From 1990 to 2012, he was a senior business executive based in Asia with one European and four American multinational corporations: AT&T, Arthur D. Little, Cadence Design Systems, NCR, and Airbus. He was twice elected President of the American Chamber of Commerce in Japan (ACCJ). He served in the Office of the United States Trade Representative (USTR) as Director for Japanese Affairs (1985-1988) and as Deputy Assistant United States Trade Representative for Japan and China (1988-1990). Glen has served on numerous corporate and nonprofit boards in the United States, Japan, and Europe and has been a member of the Council on Foreign Relations since 1993. A bilingual and bicultural third-generation American of Japanese ancestry, he grew up in California and Japan. He was educated in the United States at Deep Springs College, Stanford University, and Harvard University (Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Business School, and Law School) and in Japan at Keio University and the University of Tokyo, where he was a Fulbright Fellow. Glen's hobbies include music, art, wine, and travel. His wife, Sakie, a Harvard EdM and Stanford MBA, was the first woman board member of Sony, Kao, Bridgestone, Mitsubishi Corp., Konica Minolta, etc. Details can be found at https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Glen_S._Fukushima