

Edith Zink

Visiting Postdoctoral Scholar, Political Science

Bio

BIO

I am an political economist studying social exclusion. I will be visiting post-doc at the Department of Political Science at Stanford for the fall 2025, from the University of Copenhagen, Denmark. With my research, I want to continue to contribute to a better understanding of the social fabric of our societies. Currently, I work on an interdisciplinary research agenda together political scientists and psychologists, to study the social and economic integration of Ukrainian refugees in Denmark.