Professional Overview

BIO

Ryan Baldeo, MPAS, MSPC, PA-C, FAAHPM is a practicing physician assistant (PA) in hospice and palliative care (HPC) with experience in both community-based and academic medical centers. Through a series of professional and personal experiences, he identified a passion at the crossroads of health literacy, socioeconomic status, cultural vulnerability, and medical practice in the US, with a specific passion in working with persons living with serious illness(es). Across his career, he has come across many obstacles and roadblocks that serve as barriers to the delivery of specialty level HPC, which has expanded his passion to focus on enhancing infrastructure, business models, education, and research in the HPC field with the intent to positive impact the future landscape of HPC in the US.
