Stanford

Ziya Karimov

Visiting Instructor, Neurosurgery Research

Bio

BIO

Ziya Karimov, MD, MSc is a Neurosurgery Postdoctoral Scholar at the Department of Neurosurgery, Stanford University School of Medicine. He graduated with an Honours Degree from Ege University Faculty of Medicine (6 years med school, including 1 year Internship) in Izmir, Türkiye. Dr. Karimov ranked top percentile in the Turkish Medical Specialty Exam (TUS) and started the Residency at Izmir City Hospital (4th largest hospital in Türkiye). He gained neurosurgery experience in the US top-level centers - Johns Hopkins University, Barrow Neurological Institute, and Lenox Hill Hospital.

Dr. Karimov is interested in Cerebrovascular Surgery, Skull Base Surgery, Neurosurgery Education, and Cognitive and Behavioral Neuroscience.
He plans to be a Surgeon-Scientist and teacher, and build up new programs.
Dr. Karimov serves as a peer-reviewer in Springer-Nature, Cureus, Lippincott, MDPI, and other trusted publishers.
He is a Licensed Judo Athlete.

Hobbies: Judo, swimming, volleyball, intellectual contest games, brain ring