

Edward Bayliss

Graduate, Stanford Center for Professional Development

Bio

BIO

Embedded Systems Engineer

Focused on building reliable, firmware and hardware systems across IoT and TinyML applications.

Strong experience in C-based development, hardware bring-up, and communication protocols (SPI, I2C, UART), with a focus on debugging and system integration.

Developed automated manufacturing test and programming infrastructure to improve reliability and scalability.

Currently completing the Electrical Engineering Graduate Certificate.