

Stanford

Arnav Singhal

- Staff, Finance
- High School Student, Hoover Institution

Bio

BIO

Arnav Singhal is a student researcher focused on applied economics, with his work primarily centered on infrastructure and fiscal economics. His research explores taxation systems, economic modeling, and quantitative analysis within public finance and urban economic systems. At Stanford, he is working with the State and Local team at the Hoover Institution and with Professor Rebecca Lester's research team at the Graduate School of Business on a business burden analysis examining the relationship between municipal taxation structures and business mobility across Bay Area jurisdictions.