Stanford

Lori Cottle

Director of Student and Academic Services, Management Science and Engineering

Bio

CURRENT ROLE AT STANFORD

Director of Student and Academic Services in the Department of Management Science and Engineering

Manages and directs student and academic services for 500 bachelor, master, and doctoral students, including degree progress, graduate student funding, graduate admission, course scheduling, commencement, graduate student orientation, and website content for admission and academics. Oversees graduate and undergraduate student policy compliance and procedures. Liaison between the students and the faculty, between the department and the School of Engineering, and between the department and central offices at Stanford.