CURRENT ROLE AT STANFORD

Jordan is the Director of Campus Engagement and joined the Office of Community Engagement (OCE) in 2022 after Stanford Campus Engagement, where he previously served as the campus engagement program manager, merged with OCE to join External Relations.

As Director of Campus Engagement, Jordan leads efforts and works in collaboration with campus partners on projects, programs, and initiatives that promote and foster among the campus community (primarily staff, students, faculty, and post-docs) a sense and practice of connection to the mission of the university, the purpose of its activities, and the people who make up its community.
