Stanford

Dana K Briscoe

Affiliate, Crowder Program

Bio

BIO

Dr. Dana Briscoe is a Lead Data Scientist with the Doerr School of Sustainability at Stanford University. Her multidisciplinary research focuses on the integration of near real-time ocean intelligence with ML/AI technologies for marine management. She currently leads the research and development of novel data science methodologies using machine learning, image recognition, and innovative approaches to data visualization for climate-ready conservation and management tools.