

Stanford

Alix Mazuet

Advanced Lecturer, Language Ctr

Bio

BIO

Alix Mazuet specializes in French cultural history of the long nineteenth century, with a second area of expertise in Sub-Saharan postcolonial literatures and cultures. She is also an ACTFL certified rater of speaking and writing French as a Foreign Language.

Alix relocated in California after having taught French and Francophone Studies as Associate Professor in the Department of Modern Languages, University of Central Oklahoma. She now teaches French as a Foreign Language, French cultural history, and Francophone cultures at Stanford University, Language Center.

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

- Advanced Lecturer, Language Ctr

Research & Scholarship

RESEARCH INTERESTS

- Economics and Education
- Equity in Education
- History
- Literacy and Language
- Philosophy
- Teachers and Teaching