

Hana Lee

Affiliate, Graduate School of Business - MBA Program Office

Bio

BIO

Hana Lee is Associate Director of the Stanford Cardiovascular Institute. Prior to this position, she was the Director of Strategic Initiatives at the Stanford Center for Population Health Sciences and an Epidemiologist, Program Director at the University of California, San Francisco. She earned a Master of Public Health from Johns Hopkins University and a Bachelor of Arts from the University of San Francisco.