Stanford

David Thomas McColl

Adjunct Professor, Energy Science & Engineering

Resume available Online

Bio

BIO

David McColl is the Executive Director of Stanford Climate Ventures. He received a B.S. in Management Science & Engineering and an M.S. in Energy Resources Engineering from Stanford University. He is an Adjunct Professor in Energy Resources Engineering, a research fellow at the Steyer-Taylor Center for Energy Policy & Finance, and a partner at Echelon.

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

- Adjunct Professor, Energy Science & Engineering

Teaching

COURSES

2026-27

- Big Ideas & Open Opportunities in Climate-Tech Entrepreneurship: ENERGY 203A (Aut)
- Stanford Climate Ventures: ENERGY 203 (Win, Spr)

2025-26

- Big Ideas & Open Opportunities in Climate-Tech Entrepreneurship: ENERGY 203A (Aut)
- Stanford Climate Ventures: ENERGY 203 (Win, Spr)

2024-25

- Big Ideas & Open Opportunities in Climate-Tech Entrepreneurship: ENERGY 203A (Aut)
- Stanford Climate Ventures: ENERGY 203 (Win, Spr)

2023-24

- Big Ideas & Open Opportunities in Climate-Tech Entrepreneurship: ENERGY 203A (Aut)
- Stanford Climate Ventures: ENERGY 203 (Win, Spr)