

Kweku Fleming

Business Transformation Advisor, Stanford Institute for Innovation in Developing Economies (SEED)

Bio

BIO

Kweku Fleming is the Senior Facilitator with Stanford Seed, and a part of Seed's Founding team in West Africa. In his most recent role, he managed Stanford Seed's corps of Transformation Facilitators. Fleming contributed to establishing and refining the structure, curriculum and content of Stanford's accelerator for small & medium enterprises operating in Africa and South Asia. He has been an executive Coach supporting dozens of scaling enterprises, and has facilitated over 120 capacity-building workshops in multiple industries and regions.

Fleming earned a B.S. in electrical engineering and a M.S. in & Product Design from Stanford University. He earned a M.A. in architecture from the Illinois Institute of Technology. He was a MBA Fellow in MIT's Leaders for Global Operations.

In his former career, he was a Design Consultant who collaborated with companies to develop new products and innovations to existing products.

Fleming has worked with companies like Walt Disney Imagineering, Embarq, Jet Blue, Alcoa, and the United States Patent & Trademark Office, having served as a Registered Patent Agent since 2000.

Fleming lives in Accra, Ghana.