

Stanford

Yi-Ren Chen

Adjunct Clinical Assistant Professor, Neurosurgery

Bio

BIO

Dr. Chen is a neurosurgeon with Mercy Medical Group/ Dignity Health Foundation, as well as an Adjunct Assistant Professor of Neurosurgery at Stanford. After double majoring in biology and history at Stanford, he obtained his MD from Stanford and MPH from Johns Hopkins. He subsequently completed neurosurgery residency and fellowship at Stanford.

Clinical interests:

Neuro-oncology (brain and spine tumors), minimally invasive spine, general neurosurgery.

Research interests:

Clinical outcomes research on brain and spine tumors utilizing both large-scale nationwide databases and single-center patient information, focusing on improving quality of care, patient satisfaction, and hospital-wide outcomes.