

Teja Suhas Patil

Clinical Assistant Professor (Affiliated) [Vapahc], Primary Care and Population Health

Bio

BIO

Teja Patil completed her MD and residency in Internal Medicine at the University of California, San Francisco and an MPH at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. She has been a hospital medicine attending since 2015 and serves at the Director of Nocturnists and Director of Surgical Comanagement at VA Palo Alto.

Her professional interests include medical education, night medicine and physician wellness. She coteaches the Resiliency Curriculum Series for the internal medicine residency program.

Recent Publications:

Increasing the Frequency of Night Float Teaching with a Daily Management System: Where Medical Education Meets Quality Improvement

Medical Science Educator

Patil, T.S., Belitskaya-Levy I., Allaudeen N.

2020; <https://doi.org/10.1007/s40670-020-01106-9>