

Lola Oladini

- Affiliate, Department Funds
- Resident in Rad/Interventional Radiology

Bio

BIO

Lola Oladini is an interventional radiology/ diagnostic radiology resident (2019-2024) with a passion for community service and upliftment, global health, improv/ theater for social change, and optimizing medical education within the field of interventional radiology. She graduated from University of Chicago's Pritzker School of Medicine where she also completed an MBA from Chicago Booth School of Business with a concentration in Industrial and Organizational Behavior. She also has limited experience in healthcare consulting, as part of her summer internship with The Boston Consulting Group. She hopes to leverage her experiences and skillsets to uplift low-resource communities locally and abroad.

HONORS AND AWARDS

- Etta Kalin Moskowitz Fund Research Award, Department of Radiology, Stanford University (2020)
- Valerie Bowman Jarrett Scholar for Excellence in Leadership and Medical Education, University of Chicago Pritzker School of Medicine (2018)
- Clinton Global Initiatives University Grant Recipient, Washington University in St. Louis (2013)