

William Tanner Allread

Ph.D. Student in History, admitted Autumn 2019

 Curriculum Vitae available Online

Bio

BIO

W. Tanner Allread is a Ph.D. Candidate in History at Stanford University and holds a J.D. from Stanford Law School. His research focuses on nineteenth-century Native American history and the history of Federal Indian Law, with a particular interest in the intersection of tribal state-building and debates over sovereignty and federalism during the Removal era. Tanner is also interested in the history of American empire, the territories, and the development of constitutional law in relation to marginalized communities. In addition to his historical work, he has assisted tribes with numerous legal matters, working for the law firm of Kanji & Katzen, P.L.L.C., and the Yurok Tribe's Office of the Tribal Attorney. He is a citizen of the Choctaw Nation of Oklahoma.

EDUCATION AND CERTIFICATIONS

- Juris Doctorate, Stanford Law School (2022)
- Bachelor of Arts, Yale University , History (2016)

LINKS

- Stanford History Department Profile: <https://history.stanford.edu/people/tanner-allread>
- LinkedIn Profile: www.linkedin.com/in/tanner-allread-2b5b4473

Research & Scholarship

CURRENT RESEARCH AND SCHOLARLY INTERESTS

Indigenous History, U.S. Legal History, History of U.S. Empire, Federal Indian Law, Tribal Law, Law of the Territories, Race and the Law, Constitutional Law, Property Law, Environmental Law