

Stanford

Daniel Keath Fetter

Acting Assistant Professor, Economics

Bio

BIO

For the 2019-20 academic year, Dan Fetter will be the Trione Acting Assistant Professor at the Stanford Institute for Economic Policy Research (SIEPR) and Stanford's Economics Department. Starting 1-July 2020, Dan will be an Assistant Professor of Economics at Stanford. He is a Research Associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research (NBER), and serves on the Editorial Board of Explorations in Economic History. Dan's research is in economic history and applied microeconomics, with a focus on government intervention in housing and mortgage markets as well as the effects of government old age support. Dan received his BA from Wesleyan University in 2000, his MSc from the London School of Economics in 2004, and his PhD from Harvard in 2010.

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

- Acting Assistant Professor, Economics

LINKS

- <https://dfetter.humsci.stanford.edu/>: <https://dfetter.humsci.stanford.edu/>