Dr. Machiko Hosoki is a developmental-behavioral pediatrician. She is interested in reading problems in school-aged bilingual children, and how home and school environment affect reading development.

Dr Hosoki completed her undergraduate degree at Keio University in Japan, medical degree at Kanazawa University, and pediatric residency at Texas Tech Health Sciences Center in El Paso. During fellowship at Stanford University, she worked on research investigating the association between behavioral problems and white matter characteristics derived from dMRI in school aged children born preterm and term, under the mentorship of Dr Heidi Feldman.
