

Stanford

Abdulwahab Omira

Undergraduate, Computer Science

Bio

BIO

Robotics and Physics researcher interested in AI and advanced power generation systems. Focused on improving efficiency and output in multiple forms of generation technologies, including renewable, thermal, and chemical. Owner of four patents in nuclear waste processing, disposal, and solar power systems with developing projects in medical and other commercial robotic applications.