

Stanford

Justin Crest

Research Development Strategist/Grant Writer, Pediatrics

Bio

BIO

Justin is an experienced research scientist who has a passion for collaborative team science. He has received support from NIH, W.M. Keck, and the Damon Runyon Cancer Research Foundation for his multidisciplinary projects. At Stanford, he facilitates faculty and trainees to strategically position their grants and research goals in order to maximize funding success, while also encouraging new collaborative research within Pediatrics and campus-wide.