BIO

Distinguished Careers Institute Fellow (beginning January 2022). Over the course of a 40-year career, held leadership positions with two Fortune 50 financial-service companies, the Clinton Administration, and regional and national nonprofits. Built and led major transformational initiatives in the fields of consumer financial technology, marketing, national housing finance, and community development.

Areas of interest include the intersection among hypercapitalism, economic inequity, and threats to democracy, as well as medieval and modern European history.
