

Stanford

Alison Ong

- Ph.D. Student in Environment and Resources, admitted Autumn 2020
- Master of Arts Student in Economics, admitted Autumn 2022

Bio

BIO

Alison Ong is a PhD student in the Emmett Interdisciplinary Program for Environment and Resources. Prior to graduate school, she worked at Energy and Environmental Economics Inc. (E3) in San Francisco and most recently was a Fulbright Scholar in Melbourne, Australia. At Stanford, Alison plans to focus her doctoral research on the distributional effects of energy policy through both an economic and regulatory lens.