Stanford

Adam Bouland

Assistant Professor of Computer Science

Bio

BIO

Adam Bouland is an Assistant Professor of Computer Science. His research focuses on quantum computing theory and connections between computational complexity and physics. Please see http://theory.stanford.edu/~abouland/ for details.

ACADEMIC APPOINTMENTS

- Assistant Professor, Computer Science

Teaching

COURSES

2023-24

- Quantum Computing: CS 259Q (Aut)

2022-23

- Quantum Complexity Theory: CS 359D (Spr)
- Quantum Computing: CS 259Q (Win)

2021-22

- Quantum Computing: CS 259Q (Win)
- Quantum Computing: Open-Source Project Experience: CS 59SI (Spr)

STANFORD ADVISEES

Doctoral Dissertation Reader (AC)

Kfir Dolev, Noah Huffman, Kianna Wan, Michelle Xu

Postdoctoral Faculty Sponsor

Tamara Kohler

Doctoral Dissertation Advisor (AC)

Shaun Datta, Tudor Giurgica-Tiron

Master's Program Advisor

Jonathan Ko, Samantha Liu, Rikhil Vagadia

Doctoral Dissertation Co-Advisor (AC)

Jack Zhou

Doctoral (Program)

Jordan Docter, Chenyi Zhang