

Stanford

Ariel Horowitz

- Ph.D. Student in Comparative Literature, admitted Autumn 2021
- Research Assistant to Prof. Eshel, Comparative Literature

Bio

BIO

Ariel Horowitz is a graduate student in Comparative Literature, focusing on Jewish literature and the ways in which twentieth-century Jewish writers, both Israeli and American, understand History. He holds a B.A. in Comparative Literature and Philosophy from the Hebrew University, and an M.A. (Summa Cum Laude) from the Hebrew University, where he wrote his thesis about Gershom Scholem's influence on Yaakov Shabtai's magnum opus, Past Continuous. Other interests include political theology, literary theory and continental philosophy. Ariel is also a novelist: his debut novel, Our Finest, was published with Keter Publishing House in 2021.

EDUCATION AND CERTIFICATIONS

- MA, Hebrew University of Jerusalem , Comparative Literature (2020)
- BA, Hebrew University of Jerusalem , Comparative Literature and Philosophy (2017)