Stanford

Milad Bakhshizadeh

Postdoctoral Scholar, Statistics

Bio

BIO

I obtained my Ph.D. in Statistics from Columbia University, New York, U.S. (2021). I received my B.S.(2012) and M.S.(2014) in pure Mathematics from Sharif University of Technology.

My research areas of interest include High dimensional Statistics, Concentration inequalities, Random Matrix Theory, Structured signal processing, Inverse Problems, Phase Retrieval.

STANFORD ADVISORS

- David Donoho, Postdoctoral Faculty Sponsor

LINKS

- Personal website: https://web.stanford.edu/~miladba/

Research & Scholarship

CURRENT RESEARCH AND SCHOLARLY INTERESTS

High dimensional Statistics, Concentration inequalities, Random Matrix Theory, Structured signal processing, Inverse Problems, Phase Retrieval.