

Angelina You

Masters Student in Management Science and Engineering, admitted Spring 2023

Bio

BIO

Angelina is a MS student in Management Science & Engineering at Stanford University, specializing in technology and engineering management. She is passionate about leveraging technology and analytics to address societal issues and assist the underprivileged. She has four years of data science and product experience at Meta and two other high-growth tech startups but she is also interested in entrepreneurship. Outside of work, she serves as a project-client manager for Statistics Without Borders and co-leads a graduate student startup community at Stanford. An explorer at heart, Angelina has a wide range of interests, including dancing, boxing, cooking, traveling, and cuddling with her baby Yorkie, Yoyo.

HONORS AND AWARDS

- Accel Fellow, Stanford University
- 100 Senior Honorary, Emory University